

What to See in an Hour: West Building

If you only have a short time to visit the National Gallery of Art, here are twelve must-see paintings. Laminated guides with commentaries are available throughout the Gallery. Works may be temporarily off view.

A Jan van Eyck, The Annunciation, c. 1434/1436, Gallery 39

B Leonardo da Vinci, Ginevra de' Benci (obverse), c. 1474, Gallery 6

C Raphael, Niccolini-Cowper Madonna, 1508, Gallery 20

D Giovanni Bellini and Titian, The Feast of the Gods, 1514/1529, Gallery 17

E Jean-Auguste-Dominique Ingres, Madame Moitessier, 1851, Gallery 56

F Rembrandt van Rijn, The Mill, 1645/1648, Gallery 48

G Peter Paul Rubens, Daniel in the Lions' Den, c. 1613/1615, Gallery 45

H Johannes Vermeer, Woman Holding a Balance, c. 1664, Gallery 50C

I John Singleton Copley, Watson and the Shark, 1778, Gallery 60B

J Edouard Manet, The Old Musician, 1862, Gallery 90

K Claude Monet, Rouen Cathedral, West Façade, Sunlight, 1894, Gallery 85

L Paul Cézanne, Still Life with Peppermint Bottle, c. 1894, Gallery 80

